

List of Clergy with Credible Allegations of Sexual Abuse of Minors in the Diocese of Fort Worth

The Diocese of Fort Worth is committed to eradicating the evil of sexual abuse of minors. The protection of our children is a moral obligation and is of paramount importance to the Diocese of Fort Worth. When it comes to the protection of children, complacency is unacceptable. The Diocese of Fort Worth has taken and will continue to take affirmative steps to ensure the safety of our children.

In that regard, publicly identifying clergy and religious brothers and sisters who are the subjects of credible allegations of sexual abuse against a minor serves an important role in eradicating the evil of sexual abuse and in helping the Diocese to identify and assist those who have suffered from abuse. In 2005, the Diocese of Fort Worth first publicly identified priests who were the subjects of credible allegations of sexual abuse of a minor. In 2007, the Diocese of Fort Worth became the first diocese in Texas to include a list of credibly accused priests on its website. The disclosure of this list is made as part of the Diocese of Fort Worth's ongoing efforts to ensure the safety of our children and its commitment to transparency.

The following is the list of bishops, priests, deacons, and religious brothers and sisters who have served in the Diocese of Fort Worth since its establishment in 1969 whom the Diocese of Fort Worth has reason to believe engaged in the sexual abuse of a minor within this diocese. None of the individuals identified on this list are in active ministry. The individuals identified on this list who were ordained for the Diocese of Fort Worth or who were incardinated into the Diocese of Fort Worth will never return to active ministry. The Bishop of Fort Worth has the authority to remove from ministry those who have been ordained or incardinated into the Diocese of Fort Worth. The authority to remove from ministry those who are members of religious orders or who were ordained or incardinated into other dioceses belongs to the superiors of their religious orders or the bishops of their dioceses.

When an allegation of the sexual abuse of a minor is received by the Diocese of Fort Worth, it is immediately reported to the civil authorities (e.g., law enforcement and Child Protective Services). Separate from any investigation by the civil authorities, the diocese then takes steps to determine whether the alleged incident is plausible (i.e., confirm whether the accused and accuser were in fact at the parish/school at the alleged time, etc.). If the allegation is found to be plausible, then the accused is immediately removed from ministry while the diocese conducts a further investigation in order to determine whether there is reason to believe that the sexual abuse of a minor occurred.

The determination that the Diocese of Fort Worth has reason to believe that the sexual abuse of a minor has occurred is made by the bishop, in consultation with the Diocesan Conduct Review Board. The Conduct Review Board is a confidential consultative body composed mainly of lay members with various backgrounds and areas of expertise well suited to assist the bishop in his assessment of allegations of sexual abuse of minors and in his determination of a cleric's suitability for ministry. This determination is not a finding that the alleged abuse actually occurred. Rather, it is a finding that there is reason to believe that the alleged abuse occurred. The standard that the Diocese of Fort Worth uses in making this determination is a lesser standard than that required by our civil or criminal legal systems. As such, the inclusion of an individual on this list is not a final determination under civil or criminal laws that abuse actually occurred. Rather, it is a finding used to remove the accused from ministry in this diocese permanently, unless the accused is subsequently cleared by the facts.

The Diocese of Fort Worth is fully committed to complying with the Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People and to fulfilling its moral obligation to protect our children. You can learn about the ways the Diocese of Fort Worth is helping to protect our children by visiting the Safe Environment page on the diocesan website (<https://fwdioc.org/safe-environment>).
