

Join Junior High Language Arts teacher on a story walk this June at Bicentennial Park in Hudson, OH as she portrays American author Henry David Thoreau reading her book If Henry David Thoreau Loved the Seasons of the Year. Her book will be up through the early months of summer in the kiosks to read on your own as well.

Friends of Hudson Parks welcomes Donna Marie Przybojewski, author /illustrator as she introduces children to Henry David Thoreau, American author, philosopher, and naturalist. Donna Marie's book Henry David Thoreau Loved the Seasons of the Year will be featured in the Story Walk kiosks at Bicentennial Woods. Donna Marie, portraying Henry, will saunter through a Story Walk through the pages of her book while sharing stories about Thoreau's life in Concord, MA during the 1800s.

Sunday June 2 at 3:00 P.M. at Bicentennial Woods Park

Meet at Hudson Springs Parking lot restrooms**

Henry David Thoreau Loved the Seasons of the Year captures the vibrancy of each season at Walden Pond through its colorful illustrations that radiate not only the beauty of the seasons but the joyful youthfulness of Thoreau, who was a young man of twenty-eight when he began his stay at Walden Pond.

<https://www.friendsofHUDSONPARKS.org/story-walks/>

Also, Join Mrs. Donna Marie Przybojewski on July 6 for an author's signing of her books. Information is as follows:

Author Alley is an annual gathering and book fair of local authors held outdoors at Loganberry Books. The day coincides with the annual Larchmere Festival, a street festival that features antiques and collectibles, entertainment, and community camaraderie. As a merchant of the street, what better contribution can we make than to celebrate the local literati? All local writers are eligible, from self-published to national blockbusters.

When

Saturday, July 6, 2019, 12pm-4pm

Where

In the driveway, or "Author Alley," of Loganberry Books (or indoors in case of rain)
13015 Larchmere Boulevard
Shaker Heights, OH 44120
216.795-9800

How

Participation is free for both authors and audience.

Download the Registration Form in Word Doc or PDF Format.

 Registration due May 25th. Please email the registration as a .pdf document. **

*Registration is now opened for 2019 Author Alley.Festival

The Larchmere Festival is more than a day of bargains and goodies; it's a day of neighbors, festivities, workshops and camaraderie. Tucked into corners and lots up and down the boulevard are dealers of vintage goods, antiques, art, and collectibles, with an additional community garage sale lot for the bargain hunters. Music, workshops, chess, and food enliven the festival flair. For more information, visit www.larchmere.com.

