

The Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton Columbarium

A beautiful and dignified burial alternative for cremated remains

Since 1963, the Catholic Church has allowed the practice of cremation. Because the human body has an eternal destiny, the church requires that the cremated remains of a body be buried or entombed immediately after the funeral in the same timely manner as a body.

The St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Columbarium offers a family the opportunity to respectfully memorialize the cremated remains of their loved ones, and gives the bereaved a location to visit, reflect, and remember their loved ones in a protected and venerated place.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is a Columbarium?

The word “columbarium” is derived from the Latin word “columbary” which describes a structure for the nesting of doves – the dove being the symbol of The Holy Spirit. “Columbarium” then, refers to a burial vault for the containment of urns which hold cremated remains.

Is cremation accepted by the Catholic Church?

The Catholic Church has allowed for the practice of cremation since 1963. Because the human body has an eternal dignity, the church requires that the cremated remains of a body be buried or entombed immediately after the funeral in the same timely manner as a body.

What are the benefits of using a Columbarium?

The St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Columbarium offers a family the opportunity to respectfully memorialize the cremated remains of their loved ones. This gives the bereaved a location to visit, reflect, and remember their loved ones in a protected and venerated place.

Who may use the St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Columbarium?

The Columbarium is reserved exclusively for SEAS parishioners and their families.

How is the property maintained?

The St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Columbarium sits within the confines of our cemetery, which is maintained and managed by our Cemetery Caretaker.

When I purchase a niche in the Columbarium, do I actually “own” it?

No. Like our Cemetery burial lot owners, niche owners in our Columbarium are granted only the right of inurnment in their niche. The Cemetery reserves the right to refuse to permit the inurnment of anyone who was not, at the time of death, the owner of the niche, or a relative by blood or marriage who is entitled to a Catholic inurnment according to the Roman Catholic Church. The inurnment of those Catholics who are not members of SEAS parish shall be at the discretion of the Pastor or his designee.

Will an urn of any size or shape fit into the Columbarium niches?

Our Columbarium has two different niche sizes from which you can pick. There is a single depth niche (interior dimensions are about 12”X12”X12”), and this niche will hold up to two cremated remains. There is also a double depth niche (interior dimensions are about 12”X12”X24”), and this niche will hold up to four cremated remains. This assumes that the recommended sized and shaped urn is used for each cremated remain. If you chose to place your cremated remains in say a 9”X10”X22” urn, you would have to purchase a double depth niche to hold only the one set of cremated remains. This is allowable, but an inefficient use of available niche space. SEAS will refer you to the proper sized urn or vessel to use within our Columbarium niche.

Are there plans for perpetual care?

Yes. 20% of each sale is immediately transferred into a fund held by Catholic Community Foundation to be used exclusively for the perpetual care of the cemetery.
