Notes from the Teacher

Happy New Year! I hope you had a relaxing and joyous holiday season with your family and friends.

We are jumping right back into action! Thank you for supporting your second grader in reading a book for our book report over the break. We started the writing pieces this week. Students will focus on character, setting, and writing a retelling of the story including the beginning, middle, and end.

Please continue to set aside some time for your student to complete the second grade homework. The students have math and spelling tasks most weeks. These are always clipped into your child's binder. The spelling task ties to the skill test given on Friday and practices a specific spelling skill or rule. This month's book report planning page is on bright orange paper.

Thank you to the many parents who helped send the second graders on their merry way by planning, and helping out at the Christmas party! I appreciate you!
